I happened to see Jason's website on classmates.com and have spent the last hour and half viewing all of the wonderful things he did and the amazing support his very dear friends have given him. I'm so, so very sorry to hear that he passed away. My heart goes out to all of his dear friends and family. You are a wonderful group of very special people... it's very evident in all of the pictures how much you touched his life as he did each of you.

So sorry to hear that Jason passed away. My thoughts and prayers are with the Hilton family, the members of United We Stand for Jason, and anyone else whose life Jason touched. He leaves a tremendous legacy in bringing us all back together as well as increasing awareness of Huntington's disease. United We Stand improved the quality of life for Jason and others struggling with Huntingtons and in so doing likely extended his life. For this they deserve praise. They truly exemplify their motto "a true friend walks in when the rest of the world walks out".

I would come back to this website weekly to see if there were new pics or event information and just to see the names and wish Jason and his family my love and prayers. When I got on this morning - my heart sank to hear the news. I am glad he was happy and at peace and I knew he would fight. Jason you were an inspiration to me then and will continue to be now. God bless Sad news to hear about Jason. His character and ability to treat everyone with respect is something we all can admire. Thanks to all of those who helped him live a full life despite the effects of this terrible disease - it is because of them and Jason's willingness to fight that he enjoyed his life the way he did. God bless him and his family.

I spent 1 1/2 hours with Jay on Monday. He was happy and at peace. He smiled and seemed to know it was me. I wanted to tell him that I loved him and thanked him for bringing so many of us together to fully understand what life it really about. He fought the hardest fight of his life and was finally at peace. RIP Jason Hilton

When I found out yesterday, the first thing that came to mind was Jason holding his arms in the air and yelling "Huddle Up!" It's time for us to huddle up one more time for Jason.
